

Announcement, 2010

Milton L. Snyder, Ph.D. announces the publication of his memoir; Maybe Milton Should Go Work in the Woods.

Snyder was born in Weippe, ID in 1929, the son of Milton Cooper Snyder and Marie Pritchard Snyder. Grandparents John W. Snyder, Mary Cooper Snyder, and Jessie Lee Jordan Pritchard Snyder all migrated to Idaho from Harmon, West Virginia. Grandfather Walter Icen Pritchard, a United Brethren Methodist minister, remained a West Virginia resident.

Wanting future generations to know about their ancestors and origins, Snyder chronicles his early life on the farm and woods, stories about his relatives, and the impact education has had on his life.

Snyder moved to Lewiston, ID after the death of his father. After graduation from Lewiston High School, he attended Lewis Clark State College, known then as North Idaho College of Education, B.A. 1951.

Service in the Korean War interrupted Milt's educational plans, but eventually he earned an M.A. in Educ. Admin., 1959, University of Washington, and a Ph.D. in Leadership and Human Behavior, 1973, at United States International Univ., now known as Alliant International Univ., in San Diego. Milt has served as Teacher and Principal at Sunnyside and Richland, Washington, superintendent of schools for Anacortes, Marysville, and Federal Way School Districts in Washington State, Deputy Superintendent of Schools in Oakland, California, and Division Superintendent for Prince William County Schools in Manassas, Virginia. He also served as Deputy Executive Director for the American Association of School Administrators in Arlington, Virginia. He continues to work for several educational technology firms as their representative.

Maybe Milton Should Go Work in the Woods is 347 pages long, and contains genealogy charts, photos, and family historical documents.

Please send me _____ copies of Maybe Milton Should Go Work in the Woods.

All orders must be prepaid. Shipping and handling are FREE! New reduced price!

_____ copies x $14.95 = _____

Enclosed is my check for _____.

Please mail my book(s) to:

Name: _____ Phone/text: _____

Address: _____ Email: _____

City/State _____ Zip: _____

Mail this order form and your check made out to Craig C. Snyder to:

Craig Cooper Snyder
2520 Elmhurst CT
Bellingham, WA 98229

email: MiltSnyderBook@gmail.com

Home Webpage: <http://www.ccsnyder.com/>

Announcing the publication of Maybe Milton Should Go Work in the Woods